

LAN WorkPlace® Pro 5.2 Software License

The LAN WorkPlace Pro 5.2 software and accompanying documentation ("Software") are protected by the copyright laws and treaties of the United States (U.S.) and other countries. In addition, possession and use of the Software are subject to the terms of this Software License ("License"). By exercising Your rights to make and use copies of the Software, You agree to be bound by the terms of this License. The Software is licensed to You, not sold.

Workstation Software means the software programs provided as part of the Software that are installed and executed on an intelligent, single-user device such as a workstation.

Licensed User Count means the number of user licenses that You have lawfully purchased or acquired for the Software.

User means an individual person and not a device. If any User has more than one concurrent connection to the Software, then each of these concurrent connections is also treated as a User (e.g., if a person maintains three concurrent connections into the Software, then this is treated as three Users).

Connection Management Software means computer programs provided as part of the Software that monitor the number of connections permitted under this License and that are designed to prevent more connections than the number of licensed connections specified by the User Count.

User Access License: Novell grants to You a non-exclusive, non-transferable right to use the Software for Your own internal use, provided the aggregate number of Users who have access rights to the Software does not exceed Your Licensed User Count. You may install and use the Workstation Software on intelligent, single-user devices in a quantity not to exceed the Licensed User Count. Novell reserves all rights not expressly granted to You.

Upgrade License. This section applies to You if the Software is an upgrade. The upgrade of the Software is referred to below as the "Upgrade Product." The product from which You are upgrading is referred to below as the "Original Product." Your use of the Software is subject to the following conditions:

- 1) You have acquired the right to use the Upgrade Product solely to replace the Original Product that (i) You acquired legally (e.g. without infringing copyright or breaching a Novell license agreement), and (ii) qualified to be upgraded with the Upgrade Product under the Novell policies existing at the time You acquired the Upgrade Product; 2) You are the original licensee of the Original Product; 3) You installed and used the Original Product in accordance with the terms and conditions of the applicable license agreement; 4) At the time You acquired the Original Product, You acquired a complete copy of the Original Product, including all disks and manuals, and not simply a serialized master or license disk; 5) You have not acquired the Original Product in the secondary market, as scrap or through a second hand purchase from a dealer, distributor or another end user; 6) You will archive, return or destroy the Original Product within thirty (30) days of the installation of the Upgrade Product; 7) You will not sell or otherwise transfer possession of the Original Product; 8) You acknowledge that within thirty (30) days of installation of the Upgrade Product the license associated with the Original Product shall automatically terminate and become void; 9) You agree to waive any defense You may have against copyright infringement based upon possession of the Original Product except for archive purposes.

Additive License. This section applies to You if You are acquiring the Software to increase the User Count of the previously acquired product (referred to below as the "Base Product"). Your use of the Software is subject to the following conditions:

- 1) You have acquired the right to use this Software solely to increase the User Count of the Base Product that You acquired legally (e.g. without infringing copyright or breaching a Novell license agreement); 2) You are the sole and original licensee of the Base Product; 3) At the time You acquired the Base Product, You acquired a complete copy of the Base Product, including all disks and manuals, and not simply a copy, serialized master, or license disk; 4) You have not acquired the Base Product in the secondary market as scrap, or through a second hand purchase from a dealer, distributor or another end user.

Evaluation License. This section applies to You if the Software is provided to You for evaluation or demonstration purposes. Such Software may contain an automatic disabling mechanism. Your right to use the Software is limited in accordance with the terms of the evaluation offering under which You received the Software. If no period of use is specified, then Your right to use the Software shall terminate 30 days from receipt of the Software, at which time You must return or destroy the Software.

License Restrictions. Novell reserves all rights not expressly granted to You. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, You may not: (1) modify the Connection Management Software to increase the number of connections supported by the Software; use any device, process or computer program in conjunction with the Host Software that increases, either directly or indirectly, the number of connections to the Host Software; (2) reverse engineer, decompile, or disassemble the Software except and only to the extent it is expressly permitted by applicable law; or, (3) rent, timeshare or lease the Software unless expressly authorized by Novell in writing.

Commercial Public Network Service Restriction. You may not use the Software in a Commercial Public Network Service. A Commercial Public Network Service is a service offered to businesses or the general public that provides Internet access, virtual private networking, remote network management, access to corporate or other networks, or access to any remote computing device, application, service or data. If You would like to use the Software in a Commercial Public Network Service You must obtain a separate license from Novell. For more information, see <http://www.novell.com/internet>.

Ownership. No title to or ownership of the Software or the media on which the Software is contained is transferred to You. Novell, or the licensor through which Novell obtained the rights to distribute the Software, owns and retains all title and ownership of all intellectual property rights in the Software; including any adaptations or copies of the Software. Only the License is purchased by You.

Term. This License becomes effective on the date You legally acquire the Software and will remain in force until terminated. This License shall automatically terminate if You breach any of its terms. You may terminate this License at any time by destroying the original and all copies of the Software. Upon termination of this License, You must destroy the original and all copies of the Software or return them to Novell.

Transfer. This License may not be transferred or assigned without the prior written approval of Novell.

Any action relating to this License shall be prosecuted in the courts of competent jurisdiction of the State of Utah.

Large Account Customers. If You received the Software under a Master License Agreement, Corporate License Agreement, or other Novell large account agreement, then the Limited Warranty and the license rights and restrictions in this License apply to Your use of the Software. In the case of any conflict between the terms of this License and those of Your large account agreement, this License shall prevail.

No waiver of any past or present right arising from any breach or failure to perform shall be deemed to be a waiver of any future right arising under this License.

Severability. If any provision in this License is invalid or unenforceable, that provision shall be construed, limited, modified or, if necessary, severed, to the extent necessary, to eliminate its invalidity or unenforceability, and the other provisions of this License shall remain unaffected.

Export. Regardless of any disclosure made by You to Novell of an ultimate destination of the Software, You will not export or transfer, whether directly or indirectly, the Software, or any portion thereof, or any system containing such Software or portion thereof, to anyone outside the U.S. or Canada (including further export if You took delivery of the Software outside the U.S.) without first complying strictly and fully with all export/import controls that may be imposed on the Software by the U.S. Government or any country or organization of nations within whose jurisdiction You operate or do business.
